Lenovo included in Bloomberg MSCI Green Bond Index

Lenovo's inaugural offering of the US$625 million green bond issued in July this year has been included in the Bloomberg MSCI Green Bond Index, one of the most important benchmarks for institutional ESG funds globally.

- Bloomberg MSCI Green Bond Indices offer investors an objective and robust measure of the global market for fixed income securities issued to fund projects with direct environmental benefits.
- The index inclusion is evaluated by an independent research-driven methodology and criteria, and the securities must be rated with an investment grade.
- Currently, Lenovo's green bond is rated "Baa2" by Moody's Investors Service, Inc., "BBB-" by Standard & Poor's Ratings Services and "BBB" by Fitch Ratings Ltd.
- In addition to the Bloomberg MSCI Green Bond Index, the company's green bond was also included in the S&P Green Bond Index since September 1.
- The debut green bond offering marks an important milestone in Lenovo's ESG journey and supports its vision to achieve Net-Zero by 2050.
- Lenovo has recently been included in the 2022 Hang Seng Corporate Sustainability Index with the best score in the IT industry, receiving an AA+ rating for the second year in a row.

- The company has published its FY2022/23 Environmental, Social and Governance Report in August 2022.
